1.1. Product registration

Together with your AVG you have received your sales number. The sales number holds good for thirty days only, and then it must be replaced by a valid license number. You can receive your license number after you complete your AVG registration at the Grisoft website at www.grisoft.com. During the registration provide your sales number, and you will then receive your license number via email.

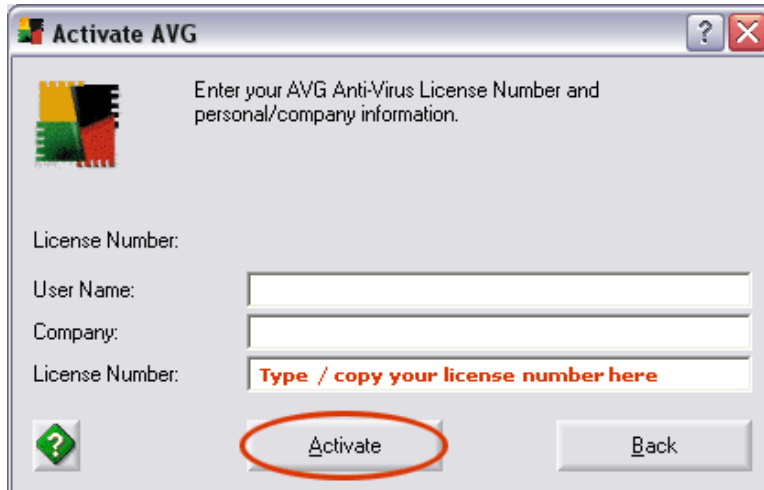

1.2. How to change your sales number to the license number

- From the Start menu run the Control Center:
Start / All Programs / AVG 7.1 Anti Virus / AVG Control Center
- Select the License item, and in the bottom part of the dialog window click the Re-activate button:

Note: The License board can be highlighted in red color if the Sales / License number change is currently relevant. Otherwise, it will be blue. The button reads the text Activate when you first register your license number. When changing your Sales number into the License number, the button says Re-activate.

In the Activate AVG window fill in all empty boxes, and confirm by clicking the Activate button:

Activate AVG

Enter your AVG Anti-Virus License Number and personal/company information.
